

Red Paper Collective Seminar

Help develop the Labour Movement alternative

for radical constitutional change

16 February 2013
10am—1pm
STUC 333
Woodlands Road
Glasgow G3 6NG

Creating a radical alternative for Constitutional Change

If you are dissatisfied with the choice offered in the Referendum between the SNP YES and the Better Together NO, you are invited to join the Red Paper Collective search for an alternative. A radical constitution must ensure that Scotland has greater democratic control of its economy and greater equality through the ability to redistribute wealth. The Red Paper's aim is to influence the debate within the labour and trade union movement to ensure that it is united behind a commitment to make the politics of class, not nation, the driving force in Scotland.

Supporters of the Red Paper Collective:

Pauline Bryan, Chik Collins, Jackson Cullinane, Neil Findlay MSP, John Foster, Lynn Henderson, Tommy Kane, Richard Leonard, Stephen

Low, Jennifer McCarey, Alan McKinnon, Vince Mills, Tom Morrison, Stephen Smellie, Elaine Smith MSP, David Shaw, Eric Shaw, Dave Watson.

10am - 1pm

Coffee available 10am £1.50

Entrance fee £3.00 or £1.00 unwaged

Programme

The Red Paper Perspective

Jackson Cullinane; John Foster; Lynn Henderson

Work shops:

Economics of Social Progress

Richard Leonard

Democratic Control and Ownership

Tommy Kane & Neil Findlay MSP

Changing the Balance of Class Forces

Stephen Low

The Political Challenge

Vince Mills, Dave Moxham, Eric Shaw

Chair: Pauline Bryan

To find out more about the Red Paper Collective and to stay in touch please register below:

Name:

Address:

Email:

Organisation/s:

Would you be able to move motions or help support the ideas of the Red Paper Collective in your Union

Labour Party

Elsewhere (details)

Contact: <http://redpaper.net/> /redpapercollective@yahoo.co.uk / @redpaperscot on twitter Telephone 07753546538